Aircraft Maintenance Engineering Course (A.M.E.)

Presently the aviation industry is one of the fast growing industries, in our country with the Indian Government's open sky policy, many private players are entering this field, creating huge employment opportunities. Playing a stellar role in this sector are Aircraft Maintenance Engineers, who ensure that the aircraft is in immaculate condition before take-off. An Aircraft Maintenance Engineer (AME) is basically a person licensed to ensure that the aircraft is airworthy and in accordance with the National and International Aviation standards.

In short, Aircraft Maintenance Engineer is the sole person responsible for the maintenance and overhaul of aircraft. Only Aircraft Maintenance Engineer can certify that the aircraft is fit for flying.

Approval has been granted by the Director General of Civil Aviation, Govt of India to our institutes for conducting Aircraft Maintenance Engineering course in accordance with the Civil Aviation Requirements Section 2-Airworthiness, Series-E, Part-I & Part-VIII. These Civil Aviation Requirements are issued in accordance with Rule 61 and Rule 133B of the Aircraft Rules 1937 derived from the Aircraft Act 1934 (XXII to 1934) passed by Parliament. Under the Aircraft Rules, Director General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) is the regulatory body to deal with all matters pertaining to Civil Aviation in the country.

Institute of Aeronautics & Engineering, Bhopal, Academy of Aviation & Engineering, Bangaluru, Hindustan Aerospace & Engineering Pune, Indian Aerospace & Engineering, Navi Mumbai, Utkal Aerospace & Engineering, Bhubaneswar, Sha-Shib Aviation Academy, Cochin & Sha-Shib Aero space & Engineering Guna have taken up the task of fulfilling the need of trained technical persons required in the aviation industry. We know, the demand for maintenance engineers is always high and the trained technical people are in immense demand. Sha- Shib Group of institutions focus on developing the students to fulfill the demand of maintenance engineers required by the aviation industry.

The concept of theory & practical classes of AME course not only develop the manual skill essential for Aircraft Maintenance Engineer but also provides thorough concept of Aircraft & its systems to the students.

Looking at today's global expansion in aviation sector the future will offer immense job opportunity to AME License holders in Airlines, Corporate Sector & Training Academies, not only in India but also abroad. Job opportunities have multiplied in recent years owing to the result of globalization. Not only a number of Private Airlines are operating in the sector but International Airlines have also started their operation in India.

As compared to other courses the students need a well organized planning for studies. Students should be well disciplined, dedicated & must maintain punctuality in their studies. There is no short cut to success. We are not at all interested to complete the course as early as possible but we rely on better understanding with the students, so as to get better and easy success to their examination. "Student's success is our motive"

A Few words for the Parents

As far as parents are concerned, their guidance is equally important as that of teachers. Parents are better equipped with the career of their children. We can invoke the inner potentiality of the candidate and put him/her on the right track, provided there is full co-operation from the side of parents Besides acquiring Technical & Non Technical knowledge they need to develop a moral & intellectual personality. Therefore parents should be in constant touch with their wards by repeated visit to the institute to find whether progress is made or failure is encountered by their wards. Parents & teachers can jointly solve their problems, if any.

Like other institutes/colleges, this Approved institute is also providing the necessary knowledge. experience and skill of Aircraft Maintenance Technique in order to pass AME Licence. Merely completion of AME course will not fetch the students any license or Degree/ Diploma. However those AME students. who have successfully completed the AME Course and passed AME licensed Examinations, conducted by DGCA will be eligible for appropriate AME License.
